Pike Fishing Season

Opens Tomorrow

Five pike will be the new daily limit for pike fishermen
this season's sport begins Friday, May 15th, on more than 200

Michigan's larger inland lakes.
Until this season the inland limit was three pike, five walleyed pike, and five black bass in a day, besides panfish and trout. Now his regulate limit of big fish will be five, rather than 15. The high limit on pike continues at 10 inches.

Special provisions for Great Lakes waters permit the taking of a total of 10 of these big game fish daily. All 10 may be wal-leyed, but no more than five may be northern pike and no more than five may be black bass.

More than five and one-half inches walleyed pike were planted in inland waters and 50 northern pike, all adults, were transplanted by the conservation department last year. The department is now planning a search program to test ways of raising both these fish to fingerling size or larger, in hatcheries.

All designated pike lakes are closed in the fish law digest distributed with each fishing license.

Fishing on other lakes, not in the list or pike lake classifications, is not begun until June 25.

Large Crowd Sees Boys Off For Service

FREDERIC SCHOOL BAND LED PARADE

A large gathering of relatives and friends of Crawford county boys were at the bus station last week Thursday afternoon, to say goodbye.

While the special Grayhound bus waited near the depot, the selectees were assembled at the Draft Board office. At the appointed time the Frederic school band escorted them in a body to the bus station, marching down Michigan avenue.

All along the street there were crowds waiting for the parade. As they halted before Shoppengons Inn it afforded opportunity to shake hands with the fellows and wish them success in their efforts on behalf of all of us and our allies, and hoping safe returns.

This is an event that will remain forever in the memories of the young men in the group and also with those of us who may only remain at home. Nowhere was there any faltering, and their willingness to go forth in the interest of their country only accentuates the spirit that predominates in all parts of our country. Crawford county is doing its part heroically, just as she always has done. This is only possible because of the united effort of our people in the one great cause—win this war.

Every part of the county was represented in this group. Frederic had several boys present, and the presence of their splendid school band must have been of great inspiration.

In complimenting Supt. Lee of the Frederic school upon their band, he said: "They are doing the best they can," which certainly was plenty good enough. Mr.
Nickola Ovanin, the band leader and teacher of music in the school, deserves a lot of credit for what he has done with this group of small boys and girls.

HANDCUFF WEDDING

Clarence Small Class Valedictorian

In the graduating class of 1942
the two students who have earned the highest marks and will graduate with honors are Clarence Small, Jr., and Jean Stevenson.

Clarence Small, son of Mr.
Clarence Small, Sr., of Beaver Creek, has earned 2.93 out of a possible 3 points and is valedictorian. He has had a perfect attendance record the last three years. He also has walked a distance of five miles to school every day this year. He has been the manager of the candy and pop sales and has been active in class activities and taken part in play productions. He is planning to enter Bay City Business College immediately after the close of school this year.

Miss Jean Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stevenson, stood second highest with a 2.83 points for salutatorian. Completing a four-year high school course in three years, she has been active in class affairs, play productions has been a member of the glee club, art club, and band. This fall Jean plans on entering Michigan State College at East Lansing. Recently Miss Jean wrote on a competitive state examination for alumni scholarship at Michigan State College.

We extend sincere congratulations to them for the fine record they have made and wish them unbounded success in the future.

Get Lowdown On Price Ceiling

LOCAL MERCHANTS READY TO COOPERATE

"Inflation is now a fact" said Mr. Stuart Hill, attorney for "Price Ceiling" administration. A meeting of merchants of this area was called to be held in the Courthouse Tuesday evening by Mayor Geo. Burke, on request of the administration.

There was a fine crowd present. Scarcely a merchant in the county was absent. Merchants were here from Grayling, Frederic and Lovell.

Prices in use during last March are the basis upon which to base present-day prices. Under no circumstances may higher prices be charged for merchandise than was charged in March. "Prices on commodities and services are controlled."

In cases of items that were not carried in stock last March, prices may be determined by comparison with similar articles or by consulting a competitor. Regardless of the time that stock may have been contracted for, what it sold for in March alone governs.

It is also mandatory that Merchants must always have his March sales records available for inspection at all times. Sellers must list commodities as of March and also list present prices. He must keep a record on all commodities he sells, and must show records on demand.

By July 1st he must submit a statement showing how his maximum prices were arrived at.
Certain living commodities are exempt. Violators will be used and if convicted will be fined $50.00. All businesses will be licensed, which license will be revoked upon conviction of violation. "We want the cooperation of all sellers; we want people to cooperate and we do not want to prosecute." Mr. Hill stated that he agreed that wages must be placed under a price ceiling if this plan was to be successful
"or all we have done is lost."
In cases where there is uncertainty and it is deemed necessary he said we may write "Office of Price Administration, Detroit or Cleveland."

Many Visit Hospital

Tuesday was national hospital day and in Grayling many took advantage of the occasion to visit our local hospital. Mercy Hospital Sisters, nurses and assistants all were prepared to entertain the visitors.

Grayling school band was present and played an appreciated concert. Light refreshments were served by the Mercy Hospital Aid ladies.

Grayling Mercy hospital was opened to the public in 1910 and ever since has been serving the public with the highest type of service. All through these years they have experienced both lean and prosperous years and all in all have done a magnificent job.
Grayling Mercy hospital has richly earned the good will and support of everyone in the county and also those who have any occasion for local hospitalization.

County Road Men Still Idle

LABOR CONCILIATOR FAILS TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES

It seems to be the determination on the part of the CIO members of the ousted employees to enforce the "seniority rule" and be re-engaged. The members of the Road Commission insist that there was no discrimination on their part against any member of the CIO but that their dismissal of certain employees was first for the purpose of cutting down of their crew to the number required, and in doing that they kept on the employees whose work was most satisfactory.

Wednesday Robert E. Lomasney, conciliator of the State Labor Mediation Board, of Lansing, was in Grayling and conferred with both factions. The dismissed members still maintain their demand for seniority rights, and said they desired an opportunity to discuss the situation with the County Board, which,
so far, the Board had denied them.

Mr. Lomasney, after hearing discussions on the part of both factions, urged the Road Commission to draw up a working agreement.

The Commission and Superintendent maintained that the seven men were let out because "they were no good," and not because they belonged to the union.

During the dispute Attorney
Edward Janis sat in the meeting representing the interests of the ousted employees, and Attorney Nellist the Road commissioners.

Intimation was made by the Road commissioners that they would be glad to have the Board of Supervisors call a special meeting for consideration of the difficulties.

The Commissioners are anxious to get busy on needed work on the highways. They ask that state police be stationed at the county garage and protect the employees, who wish to go to work, from interference by the ousted employees.

In the meantime the strike or lockout, whatever it may be, still goes on, and highways are being neglected and the whole crew of 23 men are losing wages. Just like it is in practically every strike, everyone loses, including,
in this case, the public.

brance will bloom in Grayling on will be distributed by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and the coins contributed for them will be used in Legion and Auxiliary work for the war disabled, pounds for the same cause.

Crawford County Metal Salvage day is set for Friday, May 22.
Our country needs metal so don't fail to take your old metal to Spike's parking lot. No piece is too big or too little. It all helps.

The USO are now compiling the names of all the boys who have left Crawford county previous to May 7th so that they will be able to send them some token of our appreciation, inasmuch as we were unable to entertain them before they left for the service.

Kiwanis Club Notes

The Kiwanians learned something concerning the work of air raid wardens at the club meeting Wednesday noon at Shoppenga-sons Inn. Roy Trudgeon, chief air raid warden for Crawford county was the speaker.

This club has been in an attendance contest with the West Branch club, for the month of April. The records have been checked and the results revealed that Grayling club was the winner. Accordingly the West Branchers have invited our members to be their guests at a banquet at some place still to be determined.

Announcements were made of coming events, especially those pertaining to war activities. Next Thursday, May 21st there will be a benefit party for the USO. This will be held at the Officers' club house at Camp Grayling, starting at 1 p. m. and continuing to 2
a. m. An advertisement on the front page gives more particulars.

Then there is the "metal salvage day," May 22nd, which also is explained in a front page advertisement.

Mr. Trudgeon explained that there were 15 members of his air raid warden class. They meet at the school house three nights each week. Graduates will be organized into groups, stationed in different sections of the city and county. Just how to extinguish incendiary bombs and many other vital matters were explained and discussed.

School Children For Farm Work

registration of older school children who may be needed on farms to speed the war effort, it was ent, manager of the West Branch

ployment Service.

High school superintendents in Crawford county have already been contacted relative to the registration and are in hearty accord with the program.

It is expected that in many localities high school students will play an important part in solving the farm labor problem.

A GARDEN of beautiful tulips was devastated Tuesday night when someone stole all the tulips from Mrs. Cassidy's garden back of Shoppenagons Inn. It was a most devilish thing to do. One of the kid's dad is a well known business man. How well we remember that when a young man we shot up a lot of pigeons belonging to a Mrs. Mann in Hastings who raised them for sale to hotels. They were well shooting but Dad made us pay the owner double price for every pigeon she lost. We can see that Dad was right, but, however, we always believed the owner counted in a few pigeons that "weren't there." Still our punishment was none too severe. Loving flowers is a characteristic of refinement, but stealing them is about as mean an act as one can imagine. These boys should be made to pay double for every blossom they stole. And still more for every plant they pulled up.

Give Wayne Home Rule

Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News, Mason, says: "Government in Detroit and in Wayne county is in a bad way. People have lost confidence in it as men in high positions have been convicted of graft and bribery. Home rule won't cure the situation if crooks are elected to office under home rule. It should also be said that without changing the constitution certain reforms can be made and should have been made. Yet perhaps home rule will encourage the Wayne voters to demand reforms. For that reason we who live outside of Wayne county should be willing to sign Wayne home rule petitions and then this coming November vote to give Wayne the home rule it wants."

State Highway Map Revised

State highway department officials this week prepared to issue a revised service map following its approval by the War Department and Office of Censorship. Distribution of the new map, it was stated, will start about June 1. With the exception of omitting certain information that might be of value to unfriendly agencies, the maps will be very similar to former official state highway department maps. The department halted distribution of the 1942 winter edition of maps March 18 at the suggestion of Army officials who pointed out that certain detailed information might be of use to our enemies. "All such information," department officials said, "including key industrial areas, airports, emergency landing facilities and new construction in the vicinity of war plants will not be listed on the new summer edition." Maps will be distributed in the usual manner and may be obtained from the Department's tourist lodges or by making application to the state highway department.

Lighted Airways—
There are about 2,000 miles of lighted airways in the United States.

The Home Front

When Uncle Sam fixed the top price which can be charged for everything from aspirin to ironing boards, it was the most far-reaching governmental order ever experienced by the American people.

"Tell us what to do and we will do it," has been the attitude with which the order has been received.

The Office of Price Administration tells you what to do in a simple three-point guide to shoppers:

(1) Before July 1, educate yourself as to how the price rules work and don't try to be a price policeman.

(2) After July 2, report established violations to War Price and Rationing Boards.

(3) For the duration, remember that you have a personal obligation to buy at or below the ceiling price and the plan won't work unless you make it work.

—We Are All at War—

Since finding out how the price rules work is the first step in the OPA guide, the following questions and answers will acquaint you with the essential provisions: Q. Why was the General Maximum Price Regulation issued? A. It is a war measure to stop further increases in the cost of living.

Q. Why have prices been rising?

A. People have more money to spend and less civilian goods to buy.

Q. What prices are covered? A. Nearly all prices charged by retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and producers.

Q. What are the ceiling prices? A. In general, the highest price charged for an individual article during March, 1942, by each individual seller.

Q. Then a can of tomatoes might cost me more at one store than at another and both prices be legal?

A. Yes. The maximum price for an article is fixed at the highest price at which it was sold at that particular store in March, 1942.

Q. When does this ceiling become effective?

A. For goods sold at retail, which affects most of us, it becomes effective on May 18. However, for retail services to the consumer, it does not become effective until July 1; while for sales by manufacturers, producers and wholesalers and services rendered to an industrial consumer, the ceiling became effective May 11.

Q. Is there a limit on charges by laundries, dry cleaners, auto repair shops, radio repairmen and such?

A. Yes. These are classed as retail services to the consumer, but purely personal services such as beauty and barber shops are exempt.

Q. Is real estate included?

A. No. Sales of land and buildings are exempt.

Q. Can prices be lower than the ceiling?

A. Yes. They can be as low as the seller wishes.

Q. Is there a maximum on food or beverages served in hotels, restaurants, and lunchrooms?

A. No.

Q. What does the price regulation cover?

A. Practically every article used in the life and work of America. Included are the basis "cost-of-living" articles—clothing, fuel, furniture, most foods, hardware, appliances, tobacco, drugs, toilet articles and agricultural supplies.

Q. But there are some exceptions?

A. Yes. The OPA is not permitted to set ceilings on farm products that are selling below parity. The Act also exempts newspapers, magazines, theater admissions, railroad and bus fares. Because of obvious administrative difficulties, also exempt are fresh fish, fresh fruits and vegetables, rare stamps and coins and objects of art. Raw farm products such as wheat are exempt from ceilings but these same products, when processed and prepared for the consumer, as in the form of bread, are under price ceilings.

Junior Prom Was Lovely Affair

The Junior Prom of 1942 should go down in the annals of school history as one of the most glamorous of school events, as it was a success in every way. There was a fine large crowd, the music was very good and the decorations were beautiful.

Raymond Andrus, president of the Junior class, and his classmates all worked together in perfect accord to make it the very lovely party that it was. When Saturday night came and the hour of the party, every detail had been carried out to the minute.

The national color decorations and ideas in keeping with the present wartime, were nicely depicted. Along one side of the gymnasium was a huge destroyer striped in red, white and blue in which the members of the orchestra were seated. On the opposite side was a lighthouse with its blinking signal-light and completing the floor scene was a statue of liberty. Overhead there was a blue sky dotted with stars and festooned from it to the sides of the balcony were red, white and blue streamers, and along the lower part of the balcony bunting was draped. One easily realized the class had been put to a lot of work to bring about the very original scene.

The Dave Mulholland orchestra of Mt. Pleasant played as young ladies in lovely frilly gowns and gentlemen in their Sunday best danced with hearts light and gay, not much concerned with what was going on in the outside world.

There was the grand march at midnight led by Miss Alma Bidvia, vice president of the class, who was escorted by Bill Jarrett of Detroit, and in which all joined.

When time came for the party to break up and the notes of "Home Sweet Home" rang through the air the young people were reluctant to leave. The guests were made up mostly of the school set among whom were many from out-of-town, and young folks never seem to tire of dancing.

The Junior class of 1942 had stretched their efforts to honor the Seniors with a very lovely party and their hopes were fully realized.

To Close Infirmary

The last two inmates of the Crawford county infirmary have been moved to the Antrim county infirmary, Matt Bidvia, director of the county welfare commission, said Monday.

According to Bidvia, it has been too expensive to house such a small number of persons in a building which will take care of from 15 to 20 persons, so the infirmary is expected to be closed. The two charges will be taken care of at the Bellaire infirmary and their expenses will be paid by Crawford county.

Mr. Bidvia said that because of old age assistance payments to the aged residents of the county, charges at the infirmary dropped to four last year, and to two this year.

Michigan's Old Time Lumberjacks

Michigan's old time lumberjacks as they really were is the subject presented by John I. Bellaire of Manistique in the current number of the Michigan History Magazine.

The lumberjacks were a hard crew, and there is no need to evade or disguise that fact, says the writer. In the past they have been pictured, or made to appear, worse than they really were. They were recruited from the ends of the earth, to live amid hard conditions and do tremendously difficult work. They were outside the pale of civilization, living mostly without discipline, except that they should deliver so much work. It was a hard experience they had. Yet there emerged through the roughness, the fighting and drinking, a disposition to defend some of the substantial values of life.

"Drunk or sober, the old timers would fight at the drop of the hat," writes Mr. Bellaire. "Rough in dress, speech, and manners, gaining their livelihood by the hardest kind of manual labor, living life and loving crudely—still they were gentlemen."

The food though plain was good. The lumberjacks thrived very well on it.

The old timers will never admit that the "new" lumberjacks are as good woodsmen as the men who logged the white pine.

They point out that the modern "jacks" resemble industrial workers, labor only for the pay they receive, whereas the old timers loved the smell of the pine pitch, the crash of the falling trees and the thunder of breaking railroads.

In the old days, they say, camp spirit was developed much the same as class spirit exists in high schools and colleges today.

Even the modern camp buildings, according to old time shanty-men, show the degeneration of the logging industry.

Log driving on the rivers and the many lumbering companies attempting to thwart each other's plans, are pictured in this article by real lumbermen, by such outstanding men as Frank N. Cookson and his brother Edwin Cookson, William Bragg, George Hovey and many others.

Some amusing stories of the attempt of the lumberjacks to have fresh meat in camp and at the boarding house, in place of salt pork and corn beef, are told.

Mr. Bellaire spent the past fifty years in the lumbering districts of Michigan, knowing hundreds of these old timers, and much of their personal history and has attempted to place these hard working men in their proper light.

The hearts of these rough men, he says, were in the right place. "No matter how rough and case-hardened might seem the outer man, there lived inside the husk a live kernel— which a friend of a good woman, the touch of a child's hand, would cause to blossom and bear fruit worthy of that most noble of God's creatures, a Christian gentleman."

Michigan History Magazine, is easily accessible to every citizen by its free presentation to schools and libraries of the state. It is published by the Michigan Historical Commission, Lansing.

Arrested For Reckless Driving

Luckily no one was seriously injured when a car driven by Abler J. Warner, 29, of Detroit rolled over on a curve on U.S. 1 a mile north of here at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Traveling north with Warner was his sister, Mrs. Rose Phelan of Cheboygan, and her daughter Sylvia. The driver and his passengers escaped with minor lacerations and bruises. Although the top of the vehicle was smashed Warner was able to drive it back to Grayling.

City Council Proceedings

Regular meeting held on the 11th day of May, 1942.

Meeting called to order by Mayor George Burke.

Councilmen present: Burke, Burns, Sales, Milnes, Carlson. Absent: None.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Moved by Milnes, supported by Burke that the following resolution be adopted:

Whereas the City of Grayling has expended in premiums for workmen's compensation insurance the sum of approximately $4,000.00 over the period May, 1935 to May, 1942, and

Whereas during said period the total cost of compensation and care for all accidents suffered by city employees is in the approximate sum of $570.18, and

Whereas it appears from the aforesaid record that it would be for the best interests of the city that workmen's compensation be carried by the city at its own risk, and that a special fund be established into which annual appropriations shall be made from which all such compensation claims shall be paid.

Now Therefore Be It Hereby Resolved: That upon the expiration of the present compensation insurance carried by the city, the same shall be cancelled, and that from and after such cancellation workmen's compensation shall be carried by the city at its own risk, and

Be It Further Resolved, That a special fund to be known as the Compensation Fund shall be established and kept in a bank account separate from all other city funds, immediately upon the cancellation of the present insurance, said fund to consist of an initial appropriation of $1,000, and

Be It Further Resolved, That an annual appropriation of $1,000 shall be paid into said fund until the same shall have accumulated to a total of $5,000.00, and that thereafter such annual appropriations shall be in such sums as shall be sufficient to keep said fund at a total of $5,000.00, and

Be It Further Resolved, That all compensation claims against the city shall be paid out of said Compensation Fund, and

Be It Further Resolved, That said Compensation Fund shall be maintained and kept exclusively for the payment of such compensation claims and that such funds shall be used for no other purpose.

Yea: Milnes, Burke, Burns, Carlson. Nay: Sales.

The proposed 1942-43 budget was presented to the Council for its consideration.

Moved by Milnes, supported by Carlson that the City of Grayling appropriate $15.00 for Chinese relief.

Yea: Milnes, Carlson, Burke, Burns, Sales, Nay: None.

Moved and supported that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

George A. Granger, City Clerk.

Dog (Long) Gone

Discovery of a dog 7,000,000 years old, a ripe old age for any canine, was announced at the Field Museum recently. The report came from Paul O. McGrew, assistant curator of paleontology, leader of an expedition now in Honduras. McGrew describes the animal as "large and rare and certainly new to science." He also reported finding a dwarfed Pliocene horse. Whether the venerable dog will be brought to Chicago was not announced. If so it probably will be quartered at the museum rather than the zoo. Maintenance costs presumably would be low because dogs of that age eat little or nothing.

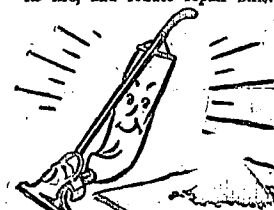

National Income Higher

The 1940 national income, approximately $73,000,000,000, was 84 per cent above the depression low of $40,100,000,000 in 1932.

First Casualty in Argentine Shipping

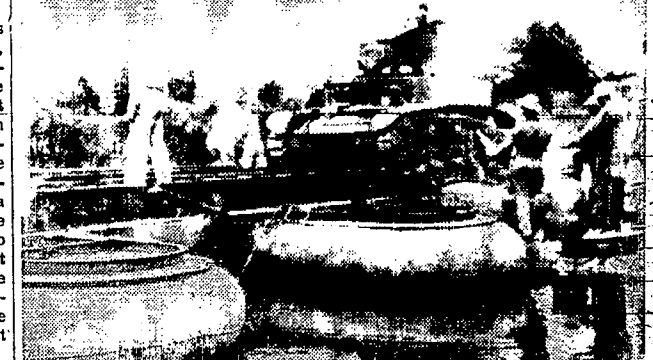

This view of the new 12,500-ton motorship Victoria, first ship under Argentine registry to be damaged by a submarine or a mine, shows the effect of the explosion. The Victoria was proceeding with her flag plainly visible, and showing lights at night. The ship continued to New York under difficult conditions, and managed to reach port safely.

U. S. Marines Adopt Commando Tactics

Somewhere in the U. S. marines are at commando practice. In the background is the mother ship, a U. S. destroyer, and about it are marines in rubber boats, which they have inflated to three pounds per square inch, and in which they are starting on a practice shore raiding party.

Pontoon Bridge for Heaviest Tanks

Officers of the 16th engineers, Fort Knox, Ky., have devised a pontoon bridge capable of transporting the heaviest tanks. Rubber pontoons are used instead of wooden floats. Photo at top shows pontoon with men ready to move it into place. Below is a section of the completed bridge showing a light tank climbing the rails to cross the bridge. The light tank weighs approximately eleven tons.

New Record in Marathon

Joe Smith of Medford, Mass., crosses the finish line in the 46th annual American marathon race of the Boston Athletic Association as winner, at the same time establishing a new record of 2 hours, 22 minutes and 51.2 seconds for the Olympic distance of 26 miles, 385 yards from Hopkinton to Boston.

YOUR CAR How to Get the MOST out of It

KEEP IT LUBRICATED

The most important single thing to remember, if you want to get the most out of your car, is: keep it lubricated. If a front wheel lacked a bearing, you wouldn't think of running your car until a new one had been installed. Oil or grease is really a kind of frictionless bearing. It is structurally a part of your car. But how often do you check to see if it is on the job?

Best advice to the car owner is: follow religiously the instruction chart that came with your car. If a service man does your greasing, make sure he doesn't overlook anything. It is also important to be sure that the proper lubricant is used at the proper point.

Most trouble is caused by lack of lubrication, but it is possible to overdo it. Too much lubricant on the front wheel bearings may result in saturated brake linings; too much oil in the generator, starter, distributor, etc., may work into the wrong places.

Doing a good lubricating job is no simple matter. It means knowing what oil to use and where to use it. Using the wrong oil is almost as bad as putting in a repair part that doesn't fit. Don't forget that good lubricants are a lot cheaper than repairs and replacements.

Col. Waldo, Well Known Nat. Guardsman, Dies

Glenn Penrod, is in Detroit where he was called by the death of his brother-in-law, Col. George Waldo, that occurred Sunday.

Many Grayling people will remember Col. Waldo, since he had been coming here for about a quarter of a century for training with Michigan National Guard.

We recall that at the time our late citizen Rasmus Hanson was offering the State the land that is now the Hanson State Military reservation, Col. Waldo was a member of the Military Board and had much to do with the State taking over the land.

An Associated Press story published in Detroit papers had the following to say concerning Col. Waldo: Col. George O. Waldo, 64, decorated several times for heroism in the First World War as a member of the 32nd (Red Arrow) division in France, died Sunday in the Veterans' hospital at Dearborn.

A native of Clare, Waldo saw action in the Battle of Santiago in the Spanish-American war and was with the 33rd Michigan Infantry at Camp MacArthur, Waco, Tex., during the border incident of 1916-17.

Later he commanded both the 125th and 126th infantry regiments in the wartime organization of Michigan and Wisconsin National guardsmen.

He helped organize the first Citizens Military Training camps in Michigan as executive officer to Col. Phelps Newberry civilian aide to the secretary of war, a post he held at the time of his death.

Old wounds and gas poisoning which long had afflicted him forced him to enter the hospital Jan. 26. Both legs were amputated in an effort to save his life. Military services, with the American Legion and Red Arrow club participating, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

IMPORTANT . . . Get your tires checked where you can see this sign

"Look, Pop—our Standard Oil dealer's gonna help keep our tires rolling!"

You know how important it is to have correct tire inflation. Tires underinflated 30% lose at least one-quarter of their possible life. But you can't get correct inflation with inaccurate tire gauges—and it's a fact that many gauges now in use are inaccurate by a number of pounds.

To guard you against this danger, Standard Oil has equipped its men with devices for testing the gauges of all Standard Oil dealers. A constant inspection is maintained so that faulty gauges can be discovered and adjusted.

This is just one of many steps taken by Standard Oil in setting up its Car Conservation program. Right now your Standard Oil dealer is featuring an approved Car Conservation Schedule. Sugar Rationing

Contrary to the usual rule the Grayling people did not wait until the last day to register for their Consumer War Ration Book No. One. A count of the applications filed shows 565 for last Monday; 649 for Tuesday; 600 for Wednesday, and 461 for Thursday, making a total of 2275 for the four-day period.

The Grayling schools wish to sincerely thank the people of Grayling for their consideration in not waiting till the last day to register. Many used the forms sent home by the schools and these proved to be a great help in saving time and avoiding errors.

Price Control Effective May 25

Michigan retailers are tightening their belts this week.

Federal price control, probably the most revolutionary step ever taken in our national economy, will go into effect in just ten days.

It's the NRA all over again, except Uncle Sam is wielding the big stick. The Blue Eagle is back. Like it or not, price control is on the way. And with it are due other economic restrictions, staggering in their aggregate significance. Most economists agree that you can't freeze prices without the accompanying power of rationing commodities of which sugar is only the first. The grade will be steep.

What is it all about, anyway? Let's take a look at it from the retailer's point of view.

On and after Monday, May 18, every retail store in Michigan must publicly display the ceiling prices of selected "cost of living" commodities—about 100 in number. After July 1 every retail store must have, available to anyone upon request, a prepared statement of the highest prices for all commodities which the store delivered or supplied during March, 1942, which is the period adopted for the price freeze.

Uncle Sam will possess control through automatic licensing of all retailers and wholesalers.

Exempt from price control are insurance, real estate and professional fees; advertising, motion pictures, wages, common carrier and public utility rates.

Although an estimated 60 to 70 per cent of all food consumed in the average family's budget are included in price control, the exemptions include eggs and poultry, all milk products, flour, mutton and lamb, fresh fish and seafoods and game, and dried prunes and beans.

Also excluded from price control are books, magazines, newspapers, periodicals, precious stones, etchings, sculptures, used automobiles and many others.

No ceilings exist on food or beverages sold for consumption on the premises by restaurants and hotels because of difficulty of enforcement due to possible adjustment in quantity and quality of servings.

Farmers may sell commodities grown and processed on his farm to a total of not more than $75 in any one month without price restriction.

Of course, used household merchandise is excluded. And so are professional or skilled services.

How will this affect the retailer?

According to Otis Cook, manager of the Michigan Retail Institute, the general effect will be unfavorable on small units of business unless the Office of Price Administration grants equitable relief from the arbitrary freezing of both retail and wholesale prices to March, 1942.

More important than price freezing, in Cook's judgment, is the prospect of a growing scarcity of merchandise due to war priorities and a resultant shrinkage of sales and profit. Rationing of important commodities is regarded by Cook to be inevitable.

One favorable factor may be a tendency for the price ceiling to become the prevalent selling level. As sales drop off, selling prices will rise toward the ceiling.

Letter From Camp

Camp Forrest, Tenn.
May 10, 1942

Dear Mr. Schumann:
Received the good old home town paper today and it sure seemed good to read the news about people that we have known and enjoyed knowing during civilian life.

We are in a large camp covering twenty-five square miles, and housing untold thousands of men. In my company there are five Crawford county boys and within a couple blocks we have four more, so we don't get quite so lonesome. We are in a machine gun company, but as yet have been training with rifles and bayonets.

The country around camp resembles our own county as it is hilly and is covered with black oak and hickory timber. The climate is swell. It gets warm during the day but cools off after sundown so a fellow can sleep, and believe me, we do sleep after hiking about ten miles a day. We are busy from the time we get up in the morning until we go to bed at night so the time fairly flies. We have been through two weeks of basic training so we have three more to go when our five weeks are up and we will move out to parts unknown.

Thanks a million for the Avalanche. It is the one connecting link between us and home. And if the folks at home will keep 'em buying, we will do our best to keep 'em flying.

Sincerely,
Pvt. Francis B. Callahan.

From where I sit . . .

You ought to meet my friend, Will Dudley. I suppose Will must be seventy-eight or nine . . . but you'd never know it. He's tall and lean and hard as a hickory. And although the only formal education he ever had was a few winters in the old red schoolhouse, I think that he's the wisest man I know in many ways.

For one thing, Will taught me the value of what he calls "Just a-settin'!"

Come upon Will in the evening, when his hard day's work is done, and you'll find him "just a-settin'," in a rocker on his porch. In one hand he'll have his old briar pipe and in the other, a tall cool glass of beer.

"Wholesome, appetizin' beer," says Will, "is standard equipment for proper settin'! Puts a feller in an easy-goin' peaceful mood."

You see, Will holds the theory that in our present mixed-up world, a man needs a quiet hour every day. An hour in which to sit down quietly and restore his strength and courage.

Will thinks, and I agree with him that a man ought to forget all his own and the world's worries during that hour-of-peace. And Will feels that a glass of fragrant mead beer helps most to bring you quiet relaxation.

Show me the man who sits down quietly of an evening with his glass of beer and I'll show you a man who is wise in the ways of living. Such men, like Will Dudley, live to a ripe old age, unembittered by the troubles of the world. They seem to remain, all their lives, sweet-natured and kindly.

Time has a way of rendering accurate judgments on the value of the things men use and enjoy in the world. And Time . . . thousand of years of it . . . has handed down the verdict that beer is a pleaser and worthy companion for all men of good will.

order houses and the large city stores.

Advertising, if used intelligently becomes a powerful and profitable selling weapon.

Rationing of gasoline, which is now being introduced in Atlantic coast states, may be extended nationally by July 1, 1942.

The big "if" in the picture, as it is reported reliably to us, is whether volunteer rationing of automobile transportation can be effected in Michigan through public acceptance of the "Pontiac Plan."

If citizens are willing to make sacrifices by voluntary action, then gasoline rationing may be put off.

The same conclusion may be drawn with regard to purchase of war bonds and stamps. If citizens agree to voluntary payroll deductions, then enforced methods may be avoided.

A Call To All Lutherans

Lutheran World Action is the sum of $650,000 to carry the emergency projects of the Church for another year, for ministry to our men in the Lutheran orphaned mission Refugee Service, for the emergency work of the American Lutheran Society, and for War Prisoner Relief.

War really comes home to us when it begins to take our young men. That strikes where we live! No matter how many we care for them, we must face the grim fact that we cannot shield them from danger. It's their lot to face that part of alone.

Yet we want them to know that we realize fully what sacrifice means. We desire follow them with tokens of our constant thought and affection. Their Church, too, is deeply concerned.

Last spring Lutherans in America were asked to contribute funds with which the National Lutheran Council could organize a spiritual ministry for Lutheran men in service camps. As result, Service Centers were organized in buildings erected or rented for the purpose at locations adjoining camps in all sections of the country. Additional centers will be established.

The Lutheran Church cannot hand over to others the spiritual care of its own men, which it regards its clear responsibility.

Each Service Center is equipped for the most practical use. An ordained Lutheran pastor gives complete attention to the religious and social needs of the men who come to him. Services are conducted, the sacraments administered; Bibles, service books and tracts distributed. Private conferences are held with those who feel the need of opening their hearts to someone. Since a service man's chief problem when off duty is to find a place for relaxation and fellowship, facilities are provided, reading, writing, games, social activities. Contacts with home are maintained, and friendships formed. "A far away from home" is the way some men have described it. Like it, and come again!

Chaplains, officers, and officials praise the program of the Service Commission. Letters from the men at camp are filled with appreciation of this evidence that their Church remembers them. When Lutheran World Action asks for funds to continue and enlarge this service in the coming year the Church is confident that no Lutheran will be satisfied until he has given generously.

Funds collected in this program are apportioned for these Service Centers, orphaned missions, Prisoners' Relief, and Refugee Service, by National Headquarters.

Your contribution may be made locally to one of the following: Miss Ingeborg Hanson, Mrs. Jorgenson or Mrs. Robert Smith.
